<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Wood Type:</th>
<th>Amerillo</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Brazil.</td>
<td>So. America, particularly in Brazil. Amerello is very durable with great resistance to preservative treatment. A favorite for fancy turnery and decorative veneers.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

This product handmade by:

Amerello is very durable with great resistance to preservative treatment. A favorite for fancy turnery and decorative veneers.

Wood Type: Amerillo

This product handmade by:

Brazil. So. America, particularly in turnery and decorative veneers.
AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.

AMERELLO (Eucleophora Paraensis) This interesting species exhibits colors that range from yellow through orange to red. The wood is a heavy hard wood that is compact with a medium texture. Also known as Arariba amerello (UK) and Amerello DeGuayaquil (Equador). Found primarily in tropical regions.